

Which leakage headlines survive matching on install strength?

each row label names what a positive gap means; units differ per row

