

EM shifts every persona context the same way; the marker implant doesn't

Per-context activation shift (trained - base, layer 14, last response token), 14 personas x 20 held-out questions per cell; same-trajectory variant

(a) How aligned is each persona context's shift with the cell's top direction?

(b) Share of the shift spectrum carried by the top direction, with both nulls

