

Conditioning on what the bystander already knew about the fact pulls every persona-distance predictor closer to zero. The persona-distance signal does not survive that control.

