

Does a behavior-dependent key beat the context-only default?

bars paired within one source bank; dotted = that bank's shuffled-key null (p95); dashed = noise-floor ceiling; whiskers = 95% CI

