

Same data, different seed: the write reproduces only where the update concentrates one dot per seed pair within a training group (n = 69 each side); low write cluster = diffuse-update lines

