

The real context-vector patch does not separate from the floor controls

Random-/norm-matched vectors move activations as much — no input localization ($f_{CV} \approx 0.1$)

